ABOUT RHIANNON

My name is Rhiannon and I'm a travel blogger from Adelaide, Australia. Together with my partner Russell, we have developed a love for visiting new places and sharing our advice with people from all over the world. I have always loved to write, and I thought it was time to combine both of my passions into a creative career as a travel writer.

Russell and I have both traveled separately, as well as having lived interstate within Australia and traveled overseas together.

ABOUT RHIANNON TRAVELS

Rhiannon Travels was established in September 2016 and is a travel blog focussing on reviews (hotels, restaurants, theme parks, popular attractions etc), itineraries, photography, travel tips and tricks, as well as personal travel stories. We focus on sharing practical and useful information, with 100% honest advice and reviews.

Rhiannon Travels target audience is a good mix between males and females in their late teens and early to late twenties looking to travel alone, with a partner or a group of friends. I write about the tips and information that I would be looking for while researching an upcoming trip, which means my reviews and articles are very relatable and informative.

- Travel related product reviews
- Another suggestion you may have for a partnership!

WHY YOU SHOULD WORK WITH RHIANNON TRAVELS

I am a dedicated, hard-working and professional writer, with a passion for educating people from all over the world about travel. I take pride in sharing only reliable, useful and helpful information.

I am 100% honest in my reviews, and will go above and beyond to share with my readers only quality accommodation and companies. I always write my articles in the way that I would research that particular topic. Therefore, everything I write is easy to read and understand.

My readers are mainly aged between 25 & 35, live in western countries and are predominately female. Most of the traffic to my blog comes from Pinterest & Facebook, so I spent a lot of time focussing on these platforms.
